

Participant Journal

Fresh Start is a program that pairs individuals under courtordered supervision with volunteer mentors from local churches in Pinellas County. The purpose of the program is to reduce recidivism by offering guidance and support to clients to help them successfully meet the requirements of probation and, more importantly, have a fresh start.

Completing your journal each week will help you identify topics that your mentor can help you work through. You are not required to share any or all of your journal entries with your mentor, but communicating your successes and obstacles will help your mentor focus their attention on your unique strengths and needs. You will get out of this what you put into it. We hope that you find your mentoring experience worth your time and effort.

Meeting #2 Planning Your Fresh Start

Every time you meet with your mentor, you will set and review your goals. To get started, read through the items below. Put a check next to the things you have under control. Circle the things you need to work on or want to improve. Put a star next to the three things you want to work on first.

Food	Parenting / Custody	Physical Health
Housing	Personal Relationships	Mental Health
Transportation	Restitution &amp; Fines	Spiritual Health
Employment	Budgeting	Alcohol/Substance Abuse

Family Issues	Debt	Coping Skills
Self-Control	Building Credit	Other:
Grief	Insurance

Imagine your dream life. If there was nothing in your way, what would your life be like? Make a list or write a letter to yourself describing your dream life. Describe who you are, your family, your home, your job, and how you spend your free time. What makes life meaningful to you? What gives you a sense of purpose?

Meeting #5 Stress Reduction

Stress is caused by good and bad events in our lives. Marriage, divorce, the birth of a child, the death of a family member, getting fired, getting an award, going to jail, and getting a new job are among the top 25 things that cause stress in our lives. Stress can affect our health, our outlook on life, and how we interact with others. Although we can't avoid everything that may cause us stress, we can manage our stress by making sure we get enough sleep, eat well, exercise regularly, and take time to relax every day.

What is currently causing you stress?

---

---

---

---

Some physical signs of stress are rapid heartbeat, tense muscles, nervousness, sweaty hands and feet, difficulty sleeping, low energy, headaches, upset stomach, dry mouth, clenched teeth, and even frequent colds or infections. How do you know when you are stressed? What are your physical signs?

---

---

---

Stress can motivate us to improve our situation (like when a car is coming and we quickly get out of the way), but when we are under stress for a long period of time, it can affect our mental and physical health. We may notice we are irritable, moody, feel overwhelmed, have difficulty concentrating or relaxing, and prefer to be alone. How do you react to stress? What are your emotional signs?

Read through the following list of activities that help people prevent and manage stress. What do you already do? What are you willing to try?

Stress Management	I do this	I'll try it
Sleep 7-8 hours a night
Eat a balanced diet
Limit caffeine
Do something to relax each day

Circle activities you already do or would consider trying from the lists below.

Meeting #6 Decision Making

Every decision we make has consequences, whether big or small, positive, negative or neutral. When we have a big decision to make, or a small one that may have big consequences, it is important to take some time to think about our options first.

Describe a decision you need to make.

Step 1: Check your gut. Our gut feelings are based on experience and values, which is important, but not always the best way to go. What does your gut say about the situation?

Step 2: Gather the information you need to consider before you make a decision. What are the facts?

Step 3: Brainstorm your options. What are the possible short-term and long-term consequences? What is the risk?

Step 4: Check with someone you trust. Review the situation with someone who uses good judgment, and will help you think about the good, the bad and the neutral consequences.

Step 5: Make a decision & monitor the outcome.

What did you decide to do? Why? How did it go?

Meeting #9 Relationships Part 1

People in healthy relationships respect each other, treat each other with patience, admit when they are wrong, and practice forgiveness. Healthy relationships do not just happen; they take work.

Your relationships may have been affected during your criminal behavior, when you were arrested, if you were in jail, and now that you are on probation. People that you love and care about may be angry, scared, disappointed, frustrated or find it hard to trust you. Fixing relationships can be hard to do, but if you want someone in your life, then it's worth the effort. Restoring trust takes time. You will have to be open, honest and patient until trust is restored.

Talking to friends and family and giving them permission to honestly share their feelings is one important step to restoring relationships. This can be very uncomfortable. If you find yourself feeling defensive or angry, try self-talk. Remind yourself that the relationship is worth it, and refocus on what the person is saying. If you can, thank them for their honesty. This may sound strange, but you will find that it is one way to let the person know you are listening and that their feelings are important.

Think about relationships that you have that are healthy. Who are you open and honest with, treat with respect, are consistently caring toward, and trust?

Explain how you contribute to healthy relationships.

- Be an equal partner in your relationships. Playing the victim or being passive is unhealthy.

Ways to show you care:

- Help someone and expect nothing in return.
- Give someone a compliment or encouragement.
- Spend time with someone (talk, play a game, eat, or teach them something).
- Listen.

What relationships are a challenge right now? Why are these relationships important to you? What is it going to take to keep them? Maybe you need to work on your relationships with your children or an unhealthy adult relationship. Clues that a relationship is not healthy include secrets, dishonesty, selfishness, disrespect, and a lack of trust.
